FOREWORD

This is a summary of the research over many years of some of the descendants of James Taylor White of Culpeper County, Virginia, who was born about 1705 by my estimate. I have added to work done by others and special mention must be made of the valuable research of Mrs. Lorraine Silva of Anahuac, Texas and Mrs. Mary Maxfield of Washington, D.C.

The oldest surviving records that mention James Taylor White begin about 1740 in Culpeper Co. and point to a family already well established in Virginia. I believe that they originated on one of the eastern counties where most of the records are now lost, and had moved westward into Culpeper County.

A brief account into the third generation will be given as far as I know it, and then will follow the records on which our conclusions are based.

By proving that James Taylor<sup>1</sup> White was a patriot in the American Revolution, one of the descendants of Lucy<sup>3</sup>, John<sup>2</sup> White has joined the Daughters of the American Revolution. Her application was approved under National Number 615-124 and dated 28 January 1977. Anyone who wishes to use this basic work must of course prove their ancestry up to one of the above names.

The family names of Powe, Davenport and Gambill will be mentioned briefly and a few records given because they are proven names of maternal lines.

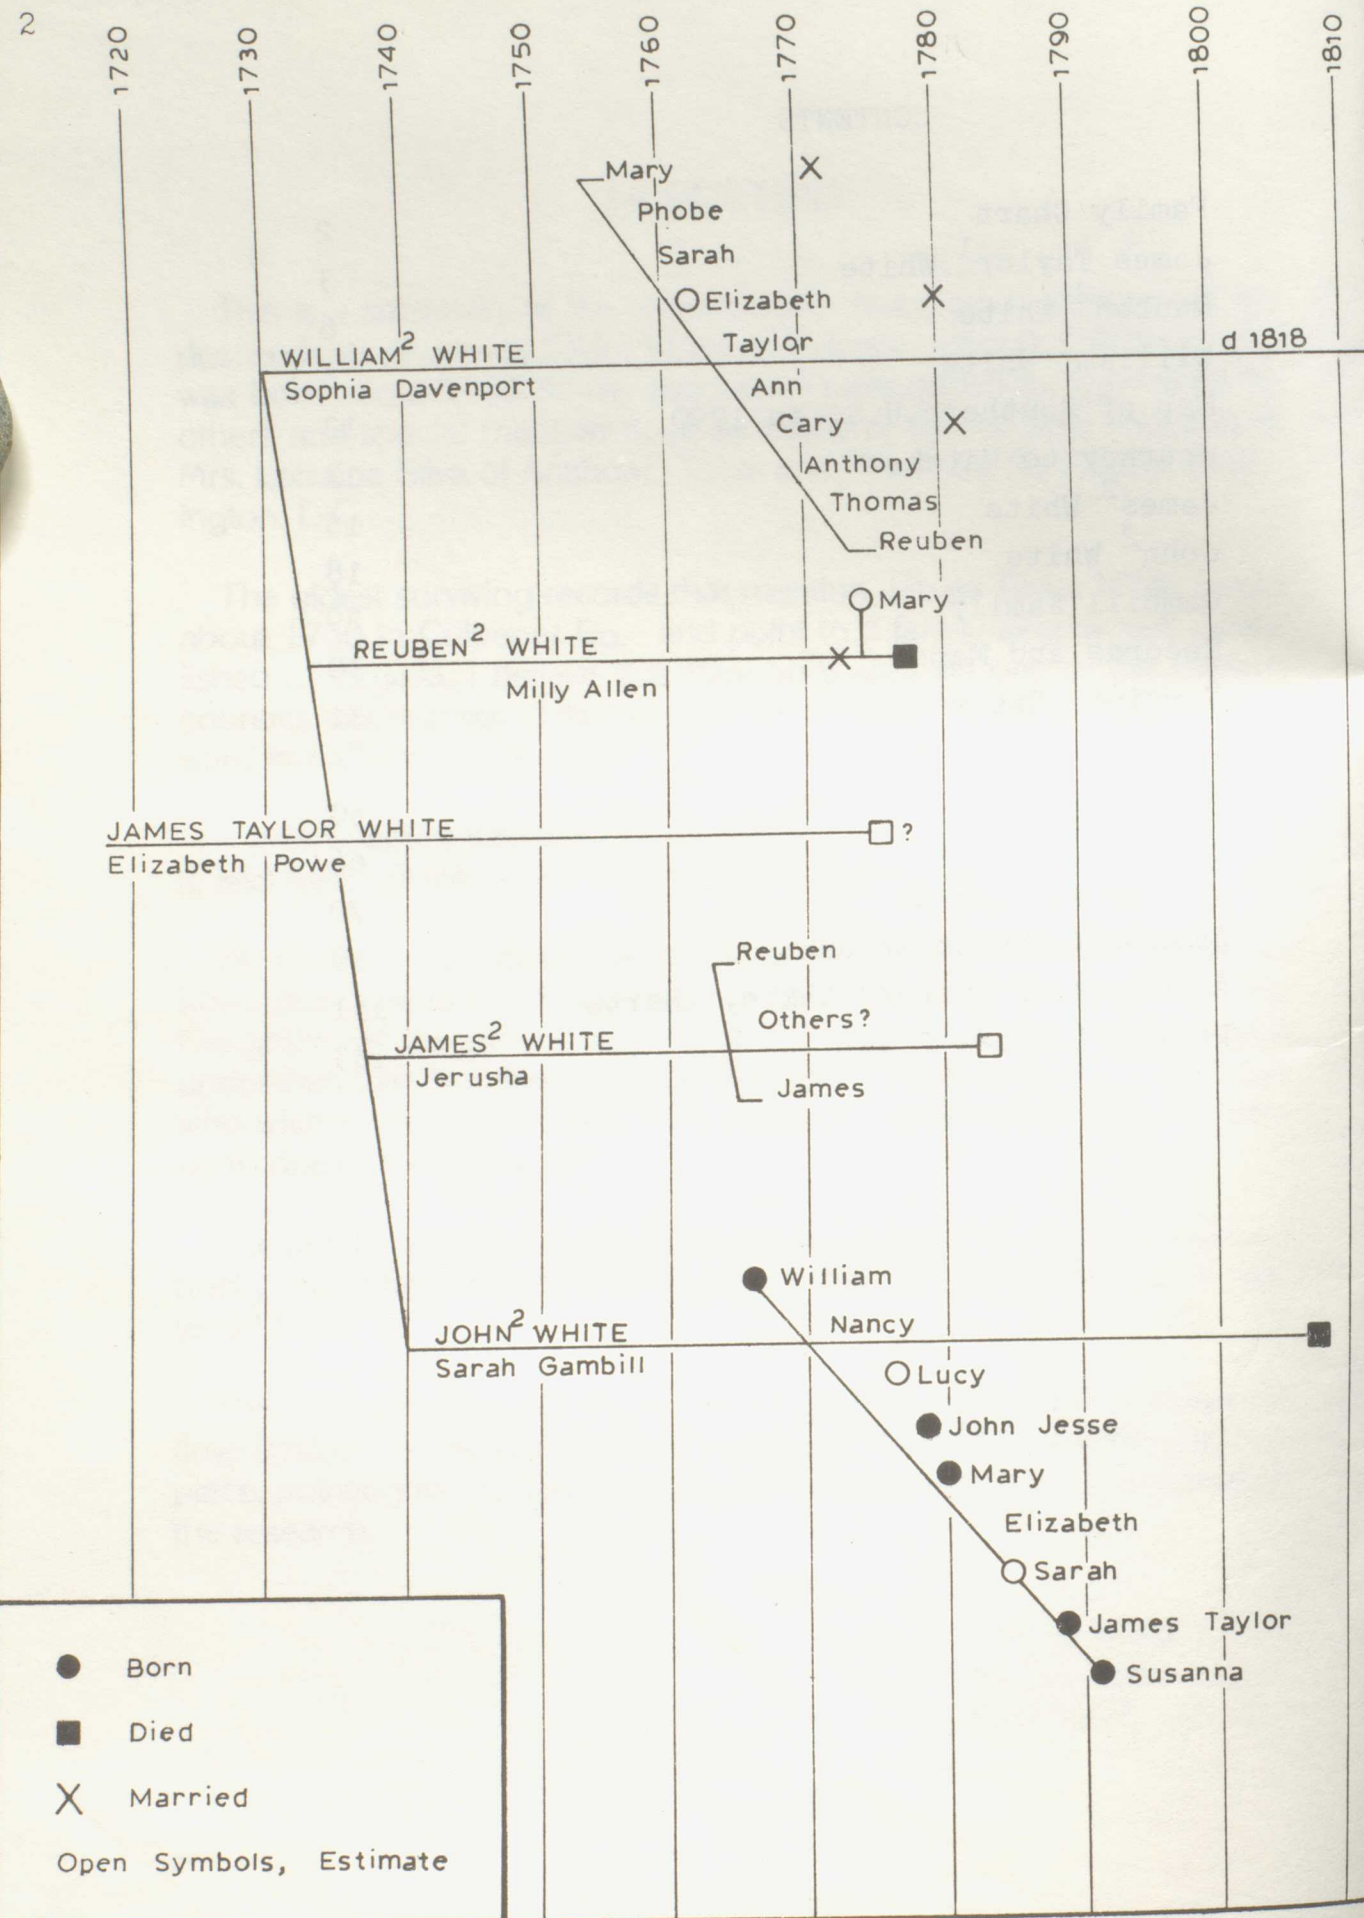

This account was not organized for formal publication because of time limitations. My intent is to bring important records together in one place, pointing to the basic sources for anyone who wishes to continue the research.

The first mention of his name is in Orange Co., Va., Will Book 1. On 24 February 1742, James Taylor White and William White made bond for Rebecca Chissum to be administratrix of John Chissum, deceased. John Chissum appeared in the first Court Order Book of Caroline Co. on 11 May 1732. William White was a constable for Orange Co. as early as 1740.

On 24 July 1746 in Orange Co. Court Order Book 4A, William White was bound over to the court for stabbing John Chissum (but certainly not the deceased John Chissum), and James Taylor White and James Corbin went his bond for good behavior "for a year and a day". On the same day, William White was made administrator of the estate of Rebecca Chissum, deceased. A family relationship between these persons appears likely.

On 23 Jan 1745 in Orange Co. Court Order Book 4, James Taylor White and James White were appointed overseers over the road gangs "from Hazle River upwards to the Great Mountains" and James Taylor White was already a "former overseer". James White, who appears in other entries, could not have been the son of James Taylor (his James would have been too young). This James White is not identified.

Culpeper Co. was formed from Orange Co. in 1748. In Orange Co. Court Orders Book 5, in 1749 James Taylor White was allowed 154 pounds of tobacco for attending court as a witness "for coming nine miles here from Culpeper County".

In Book G, Northern Neck Grants, now at the Virginia State Archives, are two Fairfax grants.

"Lord Fairfax ... unto James Whyte of the County of Culpeper ... on the Gourd Vine Fork ... Hazel River ... Thornton's line ... 217 acres ... 1 shilling rent for every fifty acres ... 26 June 1749".

"Lord Fairfax to James Taylor White of the County of Culpeper ... land in the Gourd Vine Fork in the said county ... corner of a former survey of said White's ... corner Joseph Collins ... 220 acres ... 8 Oct 1750".

On 12 May 1754, Joseph Collon of Culpeper Co. sold to Robert Eastham of same, 400 acres of land ... corner to Francis Thornton and James Taylor White in the head of a valley ... near a branch of Thornton's River ...

On 20 August 1761, reference is made to a tract surveyed for James Taylor White as a boundary, but the phrasing makes it uncertain whether or not he still owned the land. These are the last references found for James Taylor White in Virginia.

In St. Martin Church, St. Martinville, La. are entries in Spanish that name his wife as Elizabeth Pou. The Spanish name Pou is pronounced as the English Poe or Powe. The Powe family appears in contemporary records in Culpeper Co., but no connecting data have been found.

Because of Indian trouble in western Virginia in the 1750's many settlers left for the Carolinas and elsewhere. This may account for the appearance of James Taylor White and other Virginia names in Craven Co., South Carolina at about this time. A land grant was made to him by the colonial government in 1757, and he and other members of the family would receive many others later. Craven Co., South Carolina is an old but extinct county with its records in many places. In fact, the back country areas were never given any local government but had to make the journey to Charleston. Further, the established church (Church of England) never found ministers who would withstand the rigors and poor support of the inland settlements. There were many Baptist congregations in the many settlements but they were hardly an organized church at this time and place. For reasons like these, old Craven Co. does not appear on any but the most complete indices of source records for South Carolina. St. David's Parish was later formed on the Pee Dee River.

Land grant records are in the Archives at Columbia, South Carolina. Some entries in them were copied.

The above is interesting because it mentions Elizabeth, and shows the bold device he used for his mark.

From the "Diary of Rev. Evan Pugh" using a photostat now in the South Caroliniana Library:

"Geo Hickman & Mary White married 2 March 1772 over Jeffries Creek.

Rubin White & Milly Allen married 22/23 Feb 1772".

Mary<sup>3</sup> White was the daughter of William<sup>2</sup> and they would all soon move to North Carolina.

Rubin<sup>2</sup> White may have been married previously. Milly Allen was the daughter of Erasmus Withers Allen, one of the men who seems to have traveled with the Whites.

As a prelude to the Revolutionary War, troubles with the British and Tories increased in South Carolina and many chose to leave. Some of them went to the Burke County area of North Carolina, then on the frontier where land would be offered.

The White family was in Burke Co. in 1776, according to the pension petition of Leroy Taylor. He mentions Col. William White and Capt. Reuben White of the militia, and recited his service under Capt. Reuben White, who was killed in October 1776 by Indians in Burke Co.

An important deed of gift from Reuben<sup>2</sup> White to Sophia White and children that had been filed in S. Car. was also filed in Burke Co. in 1777 and attested by the widow of Reuben<sup>2</sup> and her father Erasmus Allen. The timing gives the appearance of a settlement of the estate of Reuben<sup>2</sup> White.

All the White names (and others) appeared on lists of witnesses against Tories in trials that were held in N. Car. about 1782. Among them was James Taylor White. The name appears among chain carriers in land surveys in the White settlement in 1777-78. James Taylor White was a petitioner to the legislature for Burke Co. inhabitants in 1785 (the petition is lost). Whether or not any of these references are to James Taylor<sup>1</sup> White is not settled. Some must be to the son of William<sup>2</sup> White, called Taylor<sup>3</sup> White in the deed mentioned above.

John<sup>2</sup> White and James<sup>2</sup> White received grants in Burke Co. in 1777-78 but they did not stay there long. They appeared on the property tax rolls for Washington Co. (now Tennessee) for 1780-81. Both arrived in Natchez in May 1782 with their families and James<sup>2</sup> died there about 1783. A deposition in the Natchez court records by Jerusha, widow of James<sup>2</sup>, gives the Washington Co. record and many other important facts.

John<sup>2</sup> White settled on the lower Vermilion River of Louisiana and he and others of the family received land grants there. He died there in 1807.

The families of the sons of James Taylor<sup>1</sup> White will now be given in more detail.

Reuben<sup>2</sup> White was very active in land ownership in Craven Co., S. Car. from 1770 to 1775. Numerous grants appeared in his name, but there are few surviving records of how he disposed of the land. All records were filed in Charleston at that time and travel there was so difficult that most deeds probably went unrecorded.

There is an important petition dated 15 August 1770 from William<sup>2</sup> White who prayed for government relief for himself and family because he was wounded in 1768 in militia service. The newspaper account of the 1768 action against the notorious Regulators described the service of James Taylor<sup>1</sup> White and his sons Reuben<sup>2</sup> and William<sup>2</sup> in a Militia detachment. William was badly wounded and had a slow recovery.

An informative deed of gift from Reuben<sup>2</sup> to Sophia White and her ten children was filed in S. Carolina in 1777 and dated 1773. William<sup>2</sup> had claimed eight small children in his petition in 1770. In the deed, Reuben<sup>2</sup> said he was assuming the debts of his brother William, and he gave listed property to each of the children of Sophia and William<sup>2</sup> and named each of them. The property was considerable for the time, since one slave was named and given to each child. It is my opinion that Reuben had bought the property of William for debts accumulated during his recovery, and was giving the property back to the family members, out of the reach of creditors. This is only a theory.

Reuben<sup>2</sup> White was married to Milly Allen in 1772 by the Rev. Evan Pugh, a Baptist minister, whose diary is cited later. I read the diary through and extracted a few items that seem to bear on our family history. At the same date, Rev. Pugh married Mary<sup>3</sup> White, daughter of William<sup>2</sup>, to George Hickman.

Milly Allen was the daughter of Erasmus Withers Allen of Virginia who seems to have traveled in the same pattern as James Taylor White. It is remarkable that both used the double first name. Reuben and Milly had one daughter and no record of additional children.

A statement of Revolutionary service made by Leroy Taylor gave the manner in which Reuben<sup>2</sup> White died in a Militia action against the Indians in Burke Co., North Carolina in October 1776.

Shortly thereafter in 1777, the deed of gift described above was filed also in Burke Co. and it appears that the estate of Reuben<sup>2</sup> was being settled. His wife Milly was described as his widow and the daughter of Erasmus Allen.

Their daughter Mary<sup>3</sup> White lived in Chesterfield Co., South Carolina after her marriage first to Charles Evans, and then to James Blakeney. She was living on her plantation, with an overseer, in the 1850 census. She left descendanta, and died in 1857.

Milly Allen White married a second time to Alexander Craig on 8 November 1789. Their daughter Milly Craig was born 22 Sep 1790 and married John Chapman on 22 Feb 1810 (Ref.: The Haile Bible, Genealogical Register, No. 6, 1971).

WILLIAM<sup>2</sup> WHITE of Burke County, North Carolina

William<sup>2</sup> White may have been the oldest son of James Taylor White, although we have no evidence. Using the size of his family at two known dates, he must have been married by 1750 and born before 1730. On both of these dates the family was still in Virginia.

William<sup>2</sup> married Sophia Davenport, daughter of Thomas Davenport whose obituary appeared in North Carolina in 1810. Thomas died at the home of his only son, Martin Davenport. The name Martin Davenport occurs in several generations of Virginia Davenports, and though we have a Davenport ancestor who will later be mentioned (wife of Henry Gambill), I have found no evidence to prove earlier connections.

Deeds in South Carolina indicate that the family was closing its affairs there, and it is known that the vigilante Regulators were causing increasing trouble in Craven Co. The whole family was in Burke Co., North Carolina by 1777 as indicated by land records for grants that first became available in Burke Co. in this year. William<sup>2</sup> lived at the junction of the Mulberry Branch with Johns River and Collettsville would later be on land he sold. He served for many years as a Justice of the Peace in a system where the Justice of Peace Court ran the county. He died in 1818 and William Davenport, son of Martin Davenport, administered the estate. Since all of the Burke County records burned in the Civil War, most documentary evidence is lost.

Of the sons of William<sup>2</sup> White, I have no records except that a James Taylor White received a land grant near William<sup>2</sup> and served as a chain carrier in nearby surveys in 1778-79. I believe him to have been the Taylor<sup>3</sup> White mentioned in the deed from Reuben<sup>2</sup> White to Sophia, the wife of William<sup>2</sup>. I also believe he was the James Taylor White who appeared in the 1790 census of Spartanburg Co., South Carolina (taken in 1791 or 1792 here). This was not far south of Burke County. James Taylor White sold his Spartanburg land in 1797 and disappeared from the record.

A James T. White received two land grants in 1798 in now Caldwell Co., Ky. Other names with him are familiar, but I have no proof that he was the son of William<sup>2</sup>.

The record of Mary<sup>3</sup> White's marriage to George Hickman in 1772 has already been given. They must have moved to Burke Co. with William<sup>2</sup> where they appear in the census. William<sup>2</sup> was appointed guardian of their children as orphans by court order. I have no further record.

Cary<sup>3</sup> (Catherine) White married William Dewitt (widower) in Burke Co. in 1781-82. They were among the party that came to Natchez in May 1782. A report from the governor of Natchez was found in the Archives General of the Indies in Spain, with the names, family size and slaves of an arriving party. Dewitt soon died in Natchez and Cary lived afterward in Mississippi and Louisiana. She married Henry Milburn and then Elisha Forman. She died in St. Landry Parish, Louisiana, in 1823 and left descendants.

Elizabeth<sup>3</sup> White married Parmenas Taylor about 1789 or early 1780 and tradition in the family says that she married without the blessing of her father William<sup>2</sup> White, although they were later reconciled. The couple moved immediately to now Jefferson Co., Tennessee. From the Revolutionary pension petition of a brother Leroy Taylor, we learn how Reuben<sup>2</sup> White died in the Burke Co. militia in 1776.

Parmenas T. Turnley, grandson of Parmenas Taylor and who was about 6 years old when his grandfather died, said in an account that was published: [Parmenas Taylor]"died at his residence in Taylor's Bend, Jefferson County, Tennessee on 30 January 1727 [or 28 February] in the 74th year of his age. His widow, (Betty), died at the same place, eleven years later (1838) also in the 74th year of her age. The parents of the latter were of the English Church; and Betty, in later years attached herself to the Methodist Society ..."

In a letter to Mrs. J.A. Hogan he said: "As to Whites of N.C. old Col. White was a Scotchman by parentage, and his father was a Scotchman by both birth and parentage and emigrated to North Carolina about 1720". Emigration to North Carolina is not indicated but there may be a grain of truth.

For more on the Parmenas Taylor family, see Notable Southern Families, Taylors of Tennessee, Zella Armstrong, The Lookout Publishing Co., Chattanooga, Tennessee.

Ms. Ruth Bradfield, a descendant, provided this information and has worked out the Taylor generations in detail.

Francis Asbury was an early Methodist minister who took up the arduous assignment of riding circuit among the frontier churches of the Carolinas. His diaries have been published. In The Journals and Letters of Francis Asbury, Abington Press, Nashville, are several mentions of William White on Johns River. Asbury says he visited annually. "October 22, 1799. We had a serious ride of thirty miles to William White's, Esquire, upon Johns River, Burke County ... Our quarterly meeting was held at William White's, Esquire, and grand patriarch of this settlement, whose family of children, grandchildren etc are numerous and extensively established here."

THE JOURNEY TO NATCHEZ

By 1780, our John White and his brother James were living in the Washington District of North Carolina, which became Washington County, Tennessee. In 1782, they arrived by flatboat at Natchez, Mississippi. They must have endured a remarkable journey.

The Tennessee River and its tributaries on the eastern side of the Mississippi River can be traced to western Virginia and North Carolina. The continental divide is surprisingly near the Atlantic coast. It became common to travel westward down these rivers by flatboats constructed on the spot and taken one way down stream.

That James and John White and their families came to Natchez is proven by a report from the Spanish governor of Natchez, listing all the arrivals in a group from the American states, and dated May 1782. The original is in the Archives General of the Indies in Spain. A copy is attached. Some record of one of the arrivals, David Smith, has been published (The Natchez Court Papers, by May Wilson McBee, 1953).

"After the Revolution, in which he fought in the militia for two years, David Smith and his little family, with his younger brother, William, set out for the Cumberland settlement from Montgomery Co., N.C. (estab. from Anson Co. in 1779), David in charge of the military guard for a large group of other settlers. (N.C. Rev. Sol. 486; Pension W24,006) Like many others, they landed in the Natchez District because they were unable to navigate their frail crafts against the swift current of the Ohio and perforce had to go down stream with it. (Kin II, 17)."

They probably started on the French Broad River, traveling down the Tennessee River through Alabama and back into Tennessee through territory still held by Indians who were becoming increasingly unfriendly. The Tennessee River empties into the Ohio River, and then into the Mississippi River. Natchez may not have been the original objective, but rather present Ohio or Illinois. A map is enclosed with the route of travel.

John and James and others in the party had sold their lands and cattle and invested the money in slaves as a portable property to be sold on the western market. Records in Natchez show that they did so at once after their arrival.

An interesting deposition found in the Natchez court records, Book E, page 38, was published by McBee. The statement was given by Jerusha White, widow of James, and her son Reuben and a relevant excerpt has been copied.

"The declaration of Reuben White and Mrs. White, his mother, sayeth that in the latter part of the year 1781, John White was living in Washington, North Carolina, and that he went to Kentucky to buy salt and when said White set off for salt the deceased wife of Mr. William Dewitt was alive and when the said John White returned William Dewitt's wife was dead and Mr. Dewitt had gone to Burke County near about 100 miles the contrary way to be married to the woman that he now has got, and ... James White, deceased, father of Reuben White, and husband to Mrs. White ... James White ... said to his brother John White..." 31 Jan'y 1785.

At this date, the Spanish were greatly concerned about the encroachment of Americans into lightly held Spanish colonial territory. The governor took a statement from Thomas Ethridge, one of the flatboat party. This statement is badly biased, because Ethridge was trying to avoid trouble with the Spanish governor. Secondly, the clerk wrote up the statement in Spanish and colored it as he chose. In spite of this, we can obtain valuable information about the trip and the people making it, and their purpose in coming,

John White sold his Natchez grant by early 1785. Records on his family do not begin in St. Martinville, Louisiana until 1790. The few years in between are blank, but very likely he was on the land later granted to him in 1794 on the Vermillion River. He died there in 1807.

James<sup>2</sup> White appears on the land records of South Carolina (at the same time as John<sup>2</sup> and Reuben<sup>2</sup>) although there is no proof that he ever lived there. In 1777-79 he appears (with the others) in the land records of Burke Co., N. Car. He was never called Junior and it is my opinion that James Taylor<sup>1</sup> White died before the removal to Burke Co.

James<sup>2</sup> White and John<sup>2</sup> were on the tax rolls of Washington County, N. Car. (now Tennessee) for 1780-81. When Jerusha White, widow of James<sup>2</sup> gave her deposition in Natchez in 1785, she described how they were living in Washington Co. at this time.

James<sup>2</sup> White and family were on the list of arrivals in Natchez in May 1782, along with John<sup>2</sup> White, William Dewitt and others. The entry:

Tiago White, wife & children 11 individuals 1 slave

Tiago is the Spanish equivalent for James. The 11 individuals would include James and wife, but if the rest were children cannot be determined.

Their son Reuben<sup>3</sup> was old enough to give a deposition in Natchez in 1785 along with his mother Jerusha. James<sup>2</sup> had died between 1782 and 1785. Reuben<sup>3</sup> and his brother James<sup>3</sup> are all the children that I have identified. They moved to Rapides Parish and left descendants, as will be listed. The name Martin Davenport White was used, raising a question as to whether Jerusha might not have been a sister to Sophia Davenport, wife of William<sup>2</sup> White (which see).

Reuben<sup>3</sup> White appears on the census for 1810 in Rapides Parish, La., and for 1820 in Catahoula Parish. Elizabeth White, presumed to be his widow, deposed in 1838 that she came to Texas in 1828. A certificate of character signed by B. Holt in 1835 says she came in 1823. Reuben<sup>3</sup> was not in the 1835 census of Texas and is presumed to have died before Elizabeth came to Texas. I make the following summary:

Born about 1765, died before 1835. In Rapides Parish in 1799 and 1810. In Catahoula Parish in 1820 census. Married Elizabeth, born 1770 by the 1835 census of Texas, and then living in the Sabine Dist. Not found 1850.

Children of Generation 4:

1. Son b. 1794-99 (census of 1799 & 1810)
2. Martin D(avenport?) b. 1795 (1835 cen) or 1802 (1850)
Wife Sarah
3. James T. b. 1798 (1835 cen)

4. Daughter b. 1799 (1799 and 1810 Cen)
5. Son b. 1800-02 (1810 and 1820 Cen)
6. Son b. 1804-10 ditto
7. Benjamin L. b. 1814 (1835 cen)

Martin D. and Benjamin L. were in Houston Co., Texas in the 1850 census. James T. may or may not be the one shown in Nacogdoches for 1850. In the 1835 census, James T. and wife Nancy have Amanda aged 5 years in the family. By an 1841 act of the Texas Congress they adopted Amanda Snody and made her their heir.

James<sup>3</sup> (James<sup>2</sup>) White

Born about 1765, and died between 1840 and 1850.

Married Mary Paul about 1787. Their children of Gen. 4:

2. Son ditto
3. Son (James?) ditto
4. Joseph b. 15 Nov 1794
Married Lydia Caldwell 19 March 1820
5. Reuben b. 1796 (Catahoula Par. 1850)
6. Daughter b. ca 1799 (age 0-10 in 1810)
7. Son b. 1800-10

8. Daughter b. 1804-10
9. Jerusha b. ca 1803

10. Daughter b. 1804-10

In about 1814, James<sup>3</sup> White married Isiah Belk in Avoyelles Parish and there is no record of the death of his first wife Mary Paul. By this marriage there were two children:

1. Alexander<sup>4</sup> White b. 1816 m. Sarah A. ca 1843
2. Louis Belk<sup>4</sup> White b. 1818 m. Mary Elizabeth Freeman in Catahoula Pr. 31 Jan 1843
